

Doosan

The materials handling business Doosan is a major manufacturer of machinery, with over 100 forklift units manufactured at many Doosan factories. Doosan is the oldest business organization in Korea. Models consist of engine and electric forklift trucks, and reach trucks. The Doosan name is connected with top class equipment, offering operator comfort, convenience, performance and reliability. Doosan also makes environmentally friendly units which feature reduced gas emission and less noise and vibration.

Korea's Oldest Enterprise

Doosan has been around for 115 years, starting during the year 1896 when it was known as Park Seung-jik Store, the first modern retail store in Korea. For over 100 years it has continued to change and grow with the times. Doosan's history of dynamic change and modernization has ensured its position as a global ISB powerhouse.

The Infracore division of Doosan is a leader in the production of construction machinery. Doosan Infracore is a top quality equipment maker in the fields of compact machinery, machine tools, engines, utility and attachments. Through quality enhancements and continuous technology, the company leads Doosan's ISB segment, strengthening market position and Doosan's overall product competitiveness. Doosan Infracore operates a broad global business network which includes a global dealer organization network. Situated in numerous locations all over the globe are local branches, sales subsidiaries, parts centers and technical centers. The company's factories in several European nations, Korea, and in the United States and China make different kinds of machine tools and construction equipment for a broad base of local clients. Within China, the aggregate excavator sales total of the company remains the highest within the business. We are the company of choice to fill the demand for excavators and machine tools within Korea.

Doosan is engaged in ongoing expansion of global market share through the top-notch services, production of enhanced technologies and quality products. Our overall customer satisfaction has contributed to the increase in Doosan's global market shares. We are at the forefront of the US market for compact construction machines. We continue to grow our share of the heavy-duty construction machinery industry in the US.